We expect that participants will have recently read the book. Each month, our discussions will be guided by the following types of questions:

What do you think the author's main points were in this book?

Was there a phrase, idea, or image from the book that particularly struck you? (That is, touches your heart or mind?) Why?

Does this author call you to action in some way? How?

What did you find most challenging to apply to your life? Most encouraging? Most inspirational?
