

Biblical Seminary of Brussels

“Knowledge, Piety, Service”

Founded in October 1989, the Biblical Seminary of Brussels is a warm-hearted, Christ-centered learning and missional community, a fellowship of believers committed to following Christ.

Purpose

The Seminary's three-fold raison d'être is to help Christians as they endeavour to:

*deepen their knowledge of God and His Word, and become accomplished people of faith;

*develop their ability to love and serve God and man—whether through a church, a Christian organization, within their family or in society at large; and *develop their ability to share the Gospel and explain the Word of God to others: one-on-one, in small groups or from the pulpit.

The Seminary also provides a platform for the scientific study and scholarly advancement of the Biblical and theological disciplines, and for friendly, fruitful interaction among peers in ministry.

Inspiration

Like a seedling in the shadow of a mighty oak, the BSB follows in the noble tradition of the evangelical academic enterprise whose origins trace back to the days of Luther, Calvin and the early Anabaptists, and the ministry-minded students and scholars who gathered around them. These in turn drew their inspiration not only from the schools of the Middle Ages and the first universities of Europe, but especially from the example of Christ Himself and from that of the Apostle Paul, who for two years taught daily in the “school (or lecture hall) of Tyrannus” (Acts 19:9).

Faculty

The Biblical Seminary of Brussels has two resident faculty members, a husband and wife team. They are reflective practitioners, motivated first and foremost by their passion for the Gospel and the holy Scriptures, and for everything related to the Christian faith: hope, love, theology, the Biblical languages, history, music... and also by their desire to share that passion with others.

In addition to their academic qualifications, they bring to their teaching many years of experience in missions, spiritual accompaniment and counseling, preaching, pastoral ministry and church leadership.

Study and Fellowship Opportunities

The Biblical Seminary of Brussels offers stimulating and investigative Biblical, theological and practical courses, as well as seminars, conferences, lectures, debates, prayer breakfasts, study lunches, days of reflection—and a weekly evening worship, teaching and fellowship service... open to all!
